

Discipleship Groups

Week 35

As your people gather, welcome them, and help them to greet one another.

When it's time to begin, welcome them as a group. You are in the best position to judge what follow-up may be appropriate at the beginning of each week's session. You are the one in a position to make sure that there is a personal connection from week to week.

You may include the question that the early Methodists asked one another in their small groups: How is it with your soul? It is a personal sharing question. Assure your members that they are free to answer it in the way that they interpret it individually. The only wrong answer is an untrue one.

Next, we want a weekly opportunity to pray for one another. Use your judgment of where folks are at to ask, as it seems appropriate, "May we pray for you?" If the individual is amenable, you may have the group gather around for a time of concentrated group prayer for that person.

Finally, discuss together your experiences of WWJD? When did we ask the question? When did we know the answer or not? What difficulty, cost, or blessing came from doing what He would do?

After (1) the initial conversations, (2) the "soul question," (3) the prayer time, and (4) the WWJD debriefing, watch this week's video together. It can be downloaded or played from the website.

Following the video, share about these matters together:

- Do you understand the difference suggested between "goodness" and "kindness"? How might you describe or explain that difference to someone else?
- Who in your life experience has embodied "goodness"?
- Who in your life experience has embodied "kindness"?
- To what extent do you feel more attracted to one of these attributes than the other? To what extent is it true of you that the other attribute is where you need to grow?
- What circumstance in your life needs more goodness from you?
- What person in your life needs more kindness from you?

Close the group in prayer. Then, before everyone is dismissed, remind the members about your next meeting time and place, as well as encouraging them to pray for one another each day.
